

REDaction's REDsection against Everton

01/11/04

Story by Ben

As you may well be aware by now, our younger lads are set to play Everton in the Beer Cup on Tuesday 9th November.

Seating for these games is generally a relaxed affair with a lot of season ticket holders either not going or choosing to sit elsewhere. With this in mind, REDaction have decided to take advantage and have a singing section made up of 200 fans in block 6 of the North Bank Lower.

This section is part of a bigger scheme to have a singing section (REDsection) in the new stadium for 2006/07 and if this is a success, it'll help our cause further down the line. If you've been recently frustrated with the poor showing at home games from some of our fans and have only ever talked about doing something about it this is your opportunity to be a part of the change!

Please only sit here if you're prepared to contribute to the atmosphere. If you think singing doesn't make a difference, that's fine – just sit elsewhere. This section will be for regular singers and is bound to be a great laugh!

Tickets are priced at a very reasonable £15 and will be available from the box office from Tuesday to Gold and Silver members, Wednesday to Red members and Thursday on general sale. When applying in person or by post, please specify you want a seat in the "REDaction Section".

We've worked hard to get to this stage and the club have given us the opportunity to trial this so please support it! Have a laugh with some real Gooners on the 9th while making a difference at the same time!
